ST. PAUL, Minn. — The singers of the Giving Voice chorus know the heartbreak of fading memories. From soprano to bass, they are people with Alzheimer's and their caregiving partners or spouses. Founded: Sep 18, Chorus America's award-winning quarterly magazine, The Voice, highlights chorus news, artistic initiatives in the choral world, and advice and commentary. Giving Voice Chorus in Minneapolis is a unique and joy-filled choral experience for people living with Alzheimer's and their care partners. Two Minneapolis choruses rehearse on Wednesdays throughout the year under the director of MacPhail Center for Music teaching artist Jeanie Brindley-Barnett.
